

How can I help if a disaster strikes my community?

Volunteer!

The Lenawee Community Foundation is sponsoring a Volunteer Response Center (VRC) training. VRC volunteers work with local emergency offices and spontaneous volunteers by:

- Assisting people in finding appropriate, productive, and safe ways to volunteer and
- Assisting nonprofit organizations in recruiting volunteers to respond to the disaster.

Lenawee County needs a team of volunteers ready to respond when the Emergency Manager calls our VRC into action.

Can you spare a 6 hours to be prepared to respond?

This class is being made available with Federal Homeland Security grant funding.

A Volunteer Response Center (VRC) is one link in the chain of responses necessary for an organized disaster response. We need to plan ahead and establish a functional VRC in preparation for the next natural or man-made disaster in Lenawee County.

You can be part of this plan and you are needed.
